Dear Students,

we all experience unusual circumstances these days. You have managed it well for several weeks and I am honestly proud of you. Being able to adapt to new circumstances fast is one of the most important tests you have passed in your life.

I understand that you still have many questions and doubts about exam sessions, thesis defence, diploma exams and other study-related matters. We are constantly involved in restoring the normal course of affairs. However, some of these matters require more thorough preparation, which is why I appeal to you for your patience and trust.

Below you find reference to a number of important regulations and announcements that you should read. You can still share your doubts by writing to: cp@uni.lodz.pl. Also, please keep updated with www.covid19.uni.lodz.pl.

The UL Library reactivates a number of services. Still, its building is closed till May 31.

Starting from May 20, you can collect the belongings that you left in the dormitories

Be reminded that from today on, you have the option to take your exams online. UL Students have the right, but not a duty, to choose this option. You will find all the details in Rector’s Regulations. You will soon get instructions of admission to remote exams.

[...] However, UL Students are obliged to finish the winter semester exam session till May 31.

I wish you good health and success on all fields!

Prof. Antoni Różalski

Rector of the University of Lodz
